Beginning Dialogues – “Do You Have Any Fresh Fruit?”

Angela: Excuse me. Do you have any fresh fruit?

Uri: Yes, we have all kinds of fresh fruit. We have apples, bananas, grapes, tomatoes…

Angela: Wait, tomatoes are not fruits. They are vegetables.

Uri: Umm, no ma’am. They are fruits.

Angela: No, they are vegetables. I am sure they are vegetables.

Uri: Well, ma’am. I don’t mean to be rude, but tomatoes are fruits.

Angela: Look, I know what the difference between a fruit and a vegetable is, okay?

Mr. Dodger: Uri, get back to work please.

Uri: Yes sir.

Mr. Dodger: How may I help you ma’am?

Angela: Well, I am looking for fresh fruit. Do you have any?

Mr. Dodger: Oh, yes ma’am. We have all kinds of fresh fruit. We have apples, bananas, grapes, tomatoes…

Angela: But tomatoes are vegetables!

Questions:

1) What is Angela looking for?

A. Soup
B. Candy
C. Fresh Meat
D. Fresh Fruit

1) What does Angela think a tomato is?

A. A vegetable
B. A fruit
C. A and B
D. None of the above

Vocabulary:

1) Angela says “Excuse me” in order to…

A. get the manager.
B. answer a question.
C. get someone’s attention.
D. none of the above.

2) If someone is rude, they …

A. have bad manners.
B. are impolite.
C. are bored.
D. A and B